VECTUS[®] HDPE PIPE

Vectus, a name synonymous with innovation, quality and trust, is a leading manufacturer of various types of pipes & fittings. We have a well-diversified portfolio having various types of PVC piping systems.

After extensive research & development and analysing the needs of the customer, Vectus has yet again come up with an innovative product – HDPE (High Density Poly-Ethylene) pipes.

HDPE pipes are an answer to a number of piping problems in households, industries, as well as for agricultural purposes. Tested and proven effective for underground, above ground, on surface, under water as well as floating pipe applications; these pipes are easy to fit and assure long term system performance and low maintenance cost.

Vectus HDPE pipes are manufactured as per IS 4984:1995. The working temperature for these pipes varies from –40 to +45 °C.
